Two Campus Views

Palmer Hall

Within these classic walls,
Not brawn will give one fame,
It matters not one's social charms,
But brains must be one's aim.

Coburn Library

The idle like thy coping,
The studious like thy books,
But what the fussers like
Is just those quiet nooks.

Perkins Hall

From hence wild sounds,
Of those who shriek in pain!
Nay, nay, 'tis those
Who seek their voice to train.

Cutler Academy

This is Cutler standing still
On the spot it used to be.
It yet remains somewhat intact
In spite of the Academy.

Montgomery Hall

In Monty is the rest room,
Where the Y. W. cabinets meet;
More like, it is a jest room
When the "Nugget" editors meet.

McGregor Hall

For the jolly maidens dwelling here,
Brain fag is not in the question;
Fondest parents only need to fear
Lest they die from indigestion.

Ticknor Hall

In Ticknor are two parlors,
From the door to the left and right,
But space seems sadly lacking,
When the callers come at night.

Bemis Hall

Of all the halls most famed,
Of all most hard to beat,
We love thee best of all,
For here it is we eat.

Prexy's House

This is where our Prexy lives,
The man who made our college,
The man who gives us all a chance
To have both fun and knowledge.

Hagerman Hall

Men, men, everywhere,
And not a skirt in sight;
But when it comes to keeping house,
My, but it's a fright.

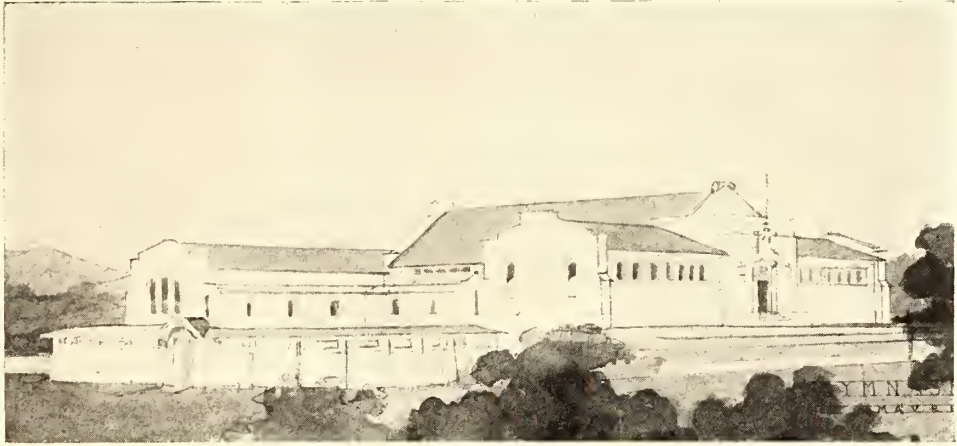

Observatory

Star bright, star light
First star I see tonight.
I wish I may, I wish I might
Dance a reel on this roof tonight.

Shops

In here is found machinery
In here is found much grease.
In here you find the Engineers
Whose labors seldom cease.

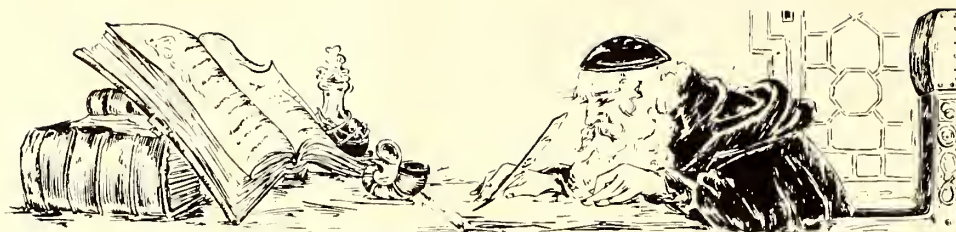

The New Men's Building

The Frederick H. Cossett Memorial Hall is the gift of Mrs. A. D. Juilliard of New York City, in honor of whose father the building is to be named. It is to cost $100,000 and, when completed, will give to Colorado College a building which is unique among educational institutions of the world and which will provide accommodations for every student interest in a way that has been achieved nowhere else. In the one building is to be combined an indoor and outdoor gymnasium with all gymnastic apparatus, lockers, baths, etc.; together with a dining hall accommodating between three and four hundred men. The Commons, for the same number, and a large assembly hall afford special facilities for the development of a healthful social life among the men of the College.

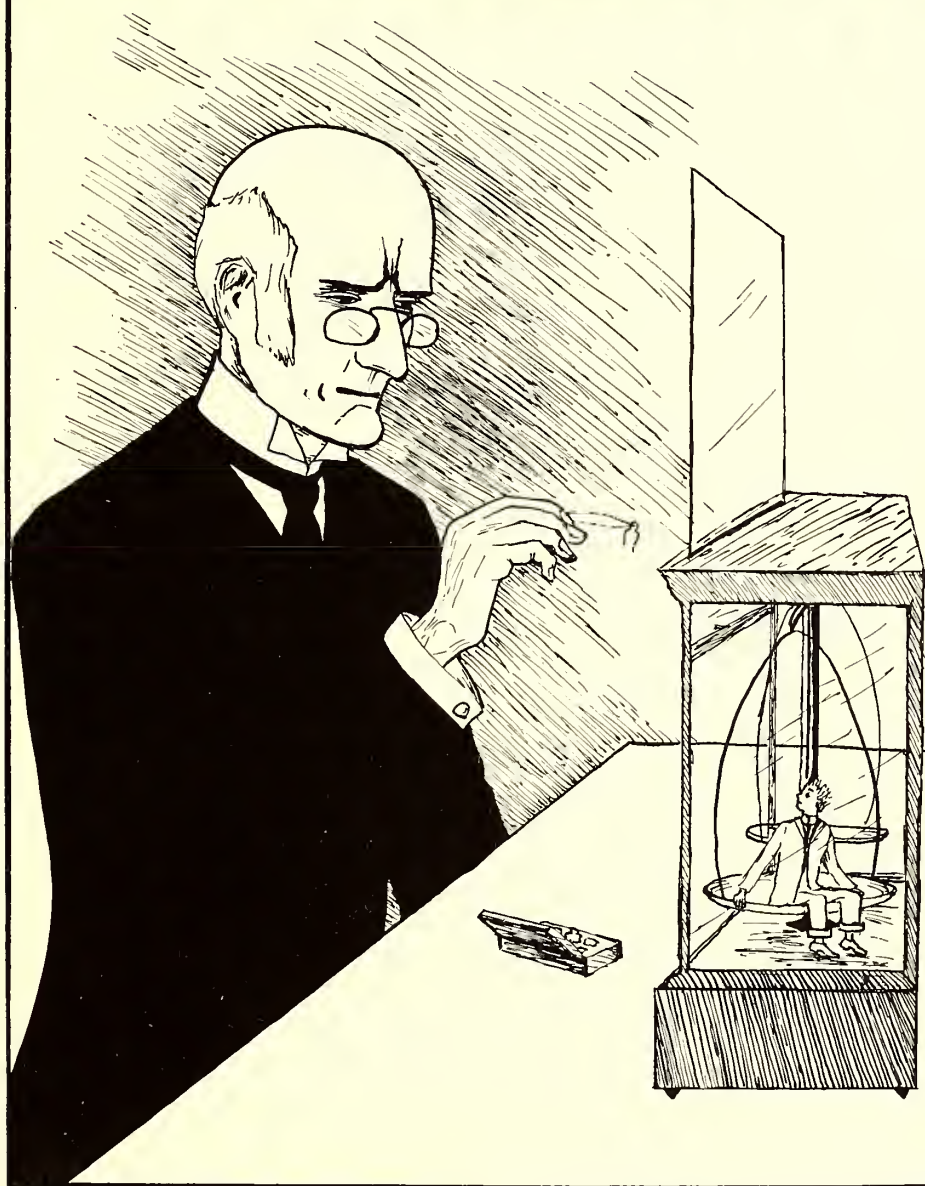

The outdoor gymnasium will contain especially the heavy gymnastic apparatus, a basket ball court, and a running track. Its outer walls will be built up in the form of a stadium which will seat over a thousand persons. When the building is completed a physical director will be employed who will have charge of the physical development of all the men in the institution.

The orchestra of the College School of Music, which was organized this year by Mrs. George M. Howe, has done splendid work, having weekly rehearsals under Mrs. Howe's direction, and, with this excellent start, the orchestra promises to be a permanent organization and to be a very important factor in the musical life of the college as well as of the town. A concert is to be given in Perkins Hall on April 17th by the orchestra, and it is hoped this will be an annual affair.

Kappa Beta Phi

The United and Benevolent Order of Boneheads.

When the Senior class graduated last year the outlook for this organization was bright. With such pledges as Shaw, Bower, Hughes, Winchell and Vandemoer, few would have predicted that anything would be amiss the ensuing year. Then why is it that there have been no elections, no orgies, no new pledges made? Surely the college has not degenerated so far in the right direction that there is no need for such an organization in the institution. We hardly dare say that it has died for want of material. Died! The thought is monstrous. It must be that its members wait but for a fitting time to come forth in greater strength and glory. Then shall the hearts of those debarred from membership be filled with envy.

Inter-Society Debate

Question

Resolved, That all taxes on real estate improvements and on personal property should be abolished in the state of Colorado by reducing the rate of such taxes 20 per cent of the levy the first fiscal year, and an additional 20 per cent each year thereafter, with a corresponding increase in the taxes on land values, until at the end of five years a single tax would be levied on land values alone.

"Land values" shall mean the sale value of the land itself, irrespective of improvements, and shall include franchise values of public properties.

Review of Season.

The track season of 1912 was successful and worth while, although we ended in second place. Of the three dual meets, the Tigers were victorious in two, those with Denver University and the School of Mines. The other dual meet went to Boulder, as well as first place in the State Meet at which Colorado College was second. The University of Colorado, because of its large and better balanced squad captured the championship. Colorado College, while surprisingly strong in the distance runs, lacked point winners in the dashes and most of the weight events. Nevertheless, the college can justly be proud of the track team.

The Tigers lost their hold on the Intercollegiate Championship for the first time in four years. Our final position was second place. This tied us with Denver University. Boulder was beaten twice by the Tigers. The School of Mines, holding first place, won from the Tigers in the first game of the season; the second game with the Mines did not materialize, mostly because of the inclement weather, it was said. The team as a whole lacked the hitting ability at critical moments. Nevertheless, they played good ball and had the real fighting spirit. Had the season been longer, the team would have surprised a good many of its followers.

At the beginning of the season, the light and fast Tiger eleven exceeded all expectations. By reason of their early season speed and team work, they won their first four games in splendid style. But as time wore on, the heavier and more experienced teams of the state came into their own and the Tigers were suppressed by sheer weight as well as by experience. Our college team showed wonderful flashes of form with the new rules. However, in a good many instances where the open game could have been used successfully it would seem, the team did not open up but played at the old style of football against a heavier team. Capt. Bowers must be mentioned for his wonderful fighting and smashing ability on the line. The other men also played their best and won much deserved praise. Although as regards position in the championship race, the Tigers can show no great record, the team will always be remembered as one worthy of representing Colorado College in every respect.

Freshman Football Team

The class of 1916 was represented on the football field by a good, husky squad of players. They rendered splendid service to the regulars in the daily scrimmages on the field. The team played two regular games during the season. On October 12 they went to Pueblo and defeated the Centennial High School in a close game with the score, 6-0. On November 8, they won from the Colorado Springs High School by the score of 15-3. The game was close and hard fought throughout.

Tennis Club

President, R. LEWIS

Vice-President, FRANCES ADAMS

Secretary-Treasurer, L. T. CLARK

For the past season the Tennis Club has lacked a vigorous and aggressive policy. Last spring, there was no real tournament, nor were there any intercollegiate players. The tennis tournament last fall dragged out until the cold weather stopped it when half completed. With spring coming again, the courts are being repaired in a thorough manner. It is sincerely to be hoped that the Club will take a new and fresh start during these last two months of the college year.

Insignia Day

A THREE ACT FARCE

SYNOPSIS

ACT I—SCENE I—In the Junior President's Room.

Enter Dean of Women. President hastens to throw a few shoes in the closet. Dean of Women makes a few pertinent remarks—about Insignia Day.

ACT II—SCENE I—Room 28, Palmer Hall.

President of 1914 waxes eloquent. Rumbblings from the rear of the room.

President still waxes. Mutterings increase. Great turbulence ensues.

SCENE II—Perkins Hall, at night.

Wicked men of the Junior class arrive with ladder, hammer, string and a paste-board box, with ingenious catch. Bird produced. Enter Prof. Motten; he grins, but says nothing.

ACT III—SCENE I—Perkins Hall.

Juniors shower Seniors with costly flowers (Juniors still in debt). Faculty fondly beams from the platform. Faculty retire still beaming. Brother Motten a trifle agitated. Sudden report of pistol and popguns. Dove of peace settles over the audience bearing 1914 colors. Everybody happy.

Boulder wasn't forgotten.

Colonial Ball

COLORADO COLLEGE, March 8th, 1912..

DEAR BILL:—

Following your advice, last night I was one of many who flattened their noses against Bemis common room windows, while trying to get a glimpse of that annual affair, the Colonial Ball. It was late this year because the social schedule committee couldn't wriggle it in any earlier. Every event has to be wriggled in, in these days of stupendous college life. Well, the lateness of the event didn't seem to dampen the spirits of the young women. Dressed in the regalia of the eighteenth century, they promenaded about the room, and then started dancing. The stately minuet by the Sophomores was done in great shape. The common room, also called uncommon, was lavishly strewn with flags and girls. Everybody had a good time including us at our posts at the window.

Yours,

Stag Ball

O, the fairy forms, the diminutive feet, and the ravishing costumes, that we saw at the stag ball! And the dancing!—how airy and graceful it was! Some few exhibited great skill in falling over their own feet as well as their partners.' Wonderfully indigestible cakes were offered as prizes to the best dancers, actors and dressers. The young ladies of the college acted as an admiring audience, and gained valuable hints as to the latest fashions in dancing and dressing.

The U. M. C. A. Circus

The greatest untented show on earth—Bigger than ever—The largest collection of fine performances ever brought together under one management. Never before have the side shows been of the quality now maintained. The Dais Brothers Minstrel Show was a paragon of fun. Sparkling wit and effervescing humor kept the audience convulsed. The Ben Her and Ben Him race was tensely thrilling and long will it be remembered. The list of excellent performers was long, and each one alone was well worth the price of admission. Special mention must be given to the Sweater Band, which rendered its chord-uroy music with great force.

APRIL.

April showers don't bother students with high brows and flat chests. We return from spring plowing and start to assume the responsibilities for the publication of The Cream of All Annuals. Weekly meetings became weakly meetings and we put off a lot until tomorrow. Students become excited over plans of a prominent eye machinist who proposed to raise shekels for High School Day. The opera troupe was interfered with because of a social schedule jammed with tawdry entertainment and the college gave up said "Nautical Knot." Kappa Sigs give chimney festival. Seldy drops baseball for fussing and "Eh, yaw." Hughes replaces him as captain. Echoes of glee club trip. Helen Gould, now Mrs. Sheppard, greeted at Perkins with nifty concoction of college spirit. College debaters outshout D. U. in judiciary recall entertainment. Dean Parsons tells about Bill Shakespeare to group of snoozing students. Breitwieser hypnotizes socialists. Bayliss puts walk to Palmer from Perkins on higher plane. Girls who lost keys to doors of knowledge organize Beta Kappa Phi. An ill wind tears off roof of grandstand and the next day we lost on the diamond to the Mines. Juniors choose to play "Pickwickians" but Miss Understanding causes dissension and show disbands.

Dean Parsons takes lessons in eating spaghetti for his Italian trip. Fuzzy Copeland leads squab to splicing guy. Girls give first Co-ed Pan-Pan, they called it Magna, and H. Sinton joins "In-Bad" club, because of misplaced compliment about Near-entertainment. College men take baths at city Y. M. C. A. and shoot pool for nothing. Pan-Hellenic council gives smoker and men enjoy each other's company for once. President Slocum makes speech at said smoker, the text being "No Taft—No gym."

We should worry a lot and build a gym.

MAY.

May was the month of the alleged May festival. Instead a few psuedo politicians staged a prize fight in Perkins. Rudolph sprung a darkhorse and Lester was elected. Cries of steam-roller and fraud. Military suffragettes, led by Miss Pickens and armed with umbrellas attack Black and Sinton. Police called. Monday ethical followed on "Why College Presidents Go Insane." Week later may-pole dawnce put on. Oh, my side. S. C. elections and college goes solid for Bowers' administration. Frats tell how it was done. Prof. Shaw introduces aged ex-cuse about broken machinery and annual is late. Mediocre stunt put on by board who bring in sick staff—who can blame them? Professah Hawt of Hawvawrd starts course on folk lore, "Americans We Should Have Met." Blooming Ministers twist our appendage but on their unexcusable track we certainly hand them a package of points. Apollonian's hearty eaters plunk up a five dollar William for annual banquet in Maniton. Conference has set-to over Hughes and Wycoff eligibility. Two hundred high school athletes invade campus, but chilly wind prevents large crowd. Frats do a lot of unnecessary rushing. We beat Boulder at baseball, have reception at Bemis and hear Girl's Glee club garble.

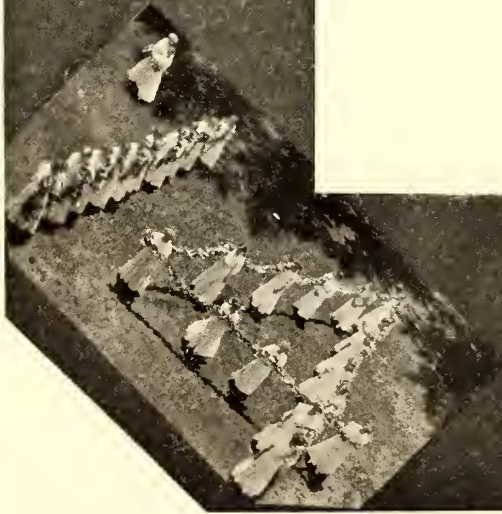

Rowbotham of London and Golden of Loveland chosen to make Tiger newspaper and not rehash magazine. Freshmen make night hideons with banquet. School of Music announces concert tour of one-night stands which never was booked. Freddy Ware's father inspected son's quarters and must have been impressed because F. H. W. came back. Freshmen hold dandelion party on Palmer lawn but quarrel over required number of weeds and go fussing. Prexy gives scores of high school commencement addresses and has voice treated. Farewell dances by frats and a few pins change hands. C. C. gets recognition from United States educators. Dean Cajori becomes cub reporter for Mathematical monthly. Girls draw for rooms and pull gum off walls. Boulder wins at track. Curse 'em.

JUNE AND VACATION.

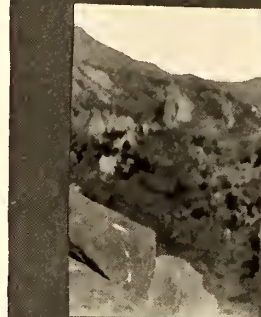

June brides, the college kind; June exams, the usual kind featured this month of roses and rare days. Barnes announced engagement with pipe organ recital. Sinton handed Kinnikinnick lemon. Jackson and Sinton made captains of teams. Frats try to rent houses for summer. Mr. Murray of corner grocery greets departing students with quizzical mien. Awful rush to complete year's work and, then, why, commencement was on us before we knew it. That was real stuff, that bunch of speeches, eh wot? Prexy announces $50,000 for gym fund. Sheep hides handed out to all except one senior. 1912 Mid-summer Night Dreamers put on co-ed dramatics, and then plant ivy by the light of the moon. The ivy died. Daring senior men sneaking into Bemis, hear girl classmates tell secrets on last night of college.

Packings up, tears and sighs, handshakes and embraces broke up the year. Some went home to work, some to work father and others to show off college signs on suitcases. Many dream, pastly, presently and futurally. Cupid moves his camp to all corners of the globe.

Motten Freshman scout bureau starts work with Bowers, Black and Gregg as lieutenants. Roger Henwood M introduced to a bevy of pretty Salt Lake girls at Salt air beach dance. (Bet he cuts this out).

Prexy takes trip to Ireland, kisses Blarney stone and gets ready to go after money for men's building. College gets Clark library during summer, with large number of valuable books that nobody reads and nobody knows where they are. College puts on stunt at Colorado Springs summer carnival. Buildings touched up by artists with tar paint. Campus goes to seed, and resembles antique hayfield. Ye editor of this year's Nugget gets job on western slope to get up muscle to make his staff work. Students start mapping out ambitious courses they never take, but 'tis the way of the world. What a fine vacation!

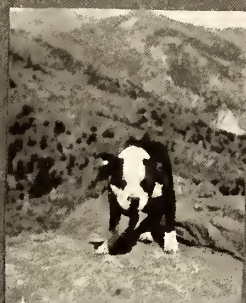

SEPTEMBER.

10. Residence halls open. Registration.

Juniors entertain Freshmen.
29. Rev. F. H. Touret, Vesper speaker.
30. E. P. Shove duplicates student fund.

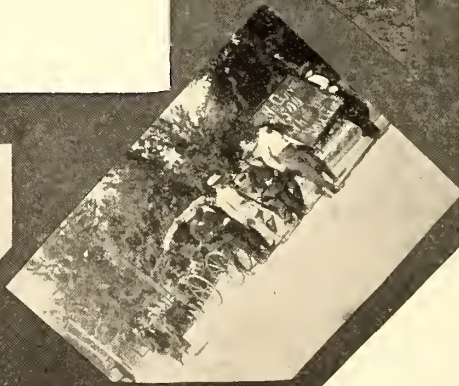

SEPTEMBER.

This month is the patented property of youth. How good the campus looked even if it didn't have a shave all summer. Grandest rush ever by fraternities for freshmen. Direct charges filed with Pan-Hellenic council that Sigs, Kappa Sigs and Alpha Taus pledged freshmen with automobiles to use said autos to rush other men. Sort of a mean trick, we think. But everybody got all they wanted and some of them more than they wanted. College puts on safe and sane flag rush, and there was no party the night preceeding. No injuries except to feelings of parents of 1916 fledglings. Grand rush at Bemis dance hall to meet freshmen girls. Fireside companionships for year started. Y. M. C. A. silently ushers in year on rubber heels and casters. This ought to be called pledge month. Girl's societies take in new members and there are tears of joy and of disappointment. Literary societies get almost all freshmen to take up work for development. Fiddledethaits move to old Kappa Sig house. What will happen next? Alumni come back to play summer football with Tigers but go down in defeat. Now comes the famous day when studes pledge $9,000 to build the gym, when they parade the streets with banners reading "What will You Do," and take picnic in mountains. E. P. Shove digs down for a dollar every time students and faculty are able to raise one.

McMillan makes a frat at Boulder and starts night school. Some connection between the two, Mac? Bible institute starts and several classes hold weekly meetings for about a week. Washburn field prepares to welcome heroes of other teams. Tryouts for glee clubs, German and French clubs. We propose try-outs for an all-college eating club for "the greater life of the nation."

"Prexy" returns with more money.
27. Rev. H. A. Smith, Vesper speaker.
29. Freshman and Sophomores "mix."
31. No barbecue. Too cold.

OCTOBER.

October's bright blue weather spoiled by college band. Prexy starts east to gather in the sheaves, the frost gets on the punkin, (Yes, punkin, not pumpkin) and the sophs get hats that scream with defiance at all others. Lonis Deesz said to have put on vaudeville stunt and D. U. would apply hook of Holland. Prof. Motten denies that Louiee ever did anything on the stage worth money and matter is dropped. Dramatic club gives play called Pig-a-lion and Galatea and some say it really was interesting. We defeat the Aggies and then they raise voices to heaven in a pretty rancid romance about "Who Trun Those Eggs." Juniors choose "Good Natured Man." No Irish plays for us—we heard about the cabbage reception in Pittsburg. Those blamed mid-semester exams come in and spoil a perfectly good month. Nebraska Wesleyan comes here for a nice defeat. They bring Goliath for a center but our little David, Randolph, although his slingshot was out of commission, played around the big husk. On one stormy night (high lights, professor) a band of desperadoes, led by Jesse James and Harry Orchard applied torches to Soph barbecue bonfire but hurry-up call to our fire department prevented any loss. Damage covered by no insurance. Poor Doc Robinson and his barbeque were never meant for this month.

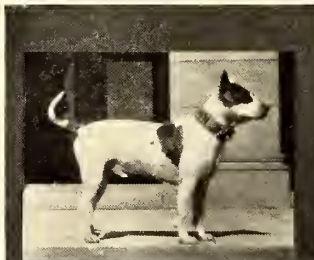

..Fijis give open house with real engraved invitations. (We bet you felt of them). It was a good open house, Tim, but they do cost money.

23. Insignia party. Freshman hike.
24. Bishop Brewster, Vesper speaker.
27. Thanksgiving recess begins.
28. C. C. 3—D. U. 20.

NOVEMBER.

Caesar had his Brutus, Charles I his Cromwell, and November its Insignia Day. A dove of peace with flour dressing, pop-gun brigades led by Cap Heron, and a lovely, perfectly lovely chrysanthemum shower were the headlines of the senior vaudeville show when those of 1913 put on caps and gowns, (who said they borrowed them). The barbecue with its coal hods, devils and devilesses, and a widely advertised program, was next on the film. Next to the barbecue given in 1911 it was one of the best affairs given in the last two years. Morning-after tossings at chapel and a few broken legs, the newspapers said. We beat Boulder (not), and Doctor Blackman presents the college with blankets that would look good in a girl's room. President Foster tells about a college that has no fussing, no athletics, no fraternities, no trouble and only work. Where does the education come in? Awful odor from chem labs on account of $1,200 worth of new poisons received from Choinmany. Musicales for near-bankrupt training table. Chapel prison rules announced. Lester made turnkey and woe be unto him who reached there too late. Hagerman Hall takes Jim Augh on snipe hunt and he doesn't get home until morning with the sack. Eagerheart given for 200th time to arouse Christmas enthusiasm. Team leaves for Utah and girls don't march in parade. To even up matters students do turkey-trot on streets. Not a good score at Utah but a good hot-hand game coming back. Motten, Bowers and Ware teach Grand Junction youths some red-hot facts about the Y. M. C. A. President Parker of the Colorado and Southern tells about hard work, of which we know little. He didn't refer to some fussers. Two rival boarding clubs, the Prunes and the Review of Reviews play football. Rev. Touret says mean things about Y. M. C. A. and Tiger says he is misinformed. The next picture on the screen will be the Minister-Tiger game. It is an indistinct picture. Doctor Blackman feeds Tigers and they forget cares after getting a "square." Pinka de Lewis gets football leadership.

DECEMBER.

2. Thanksgiving recess ends.
Engineers 0—Foresters 25.
3. Minerva function.
6. Engineer's club mock trial, Sigma Chi and Alpha Tau Delta dances.

15. Rev. F. T. Bailey, Vesper speaker.
20. Christmas recess begins.
27. Delta Phi Theta Christmas party.
Hagerman Hall entertains.
31. Leap Year, New Year's even dances.

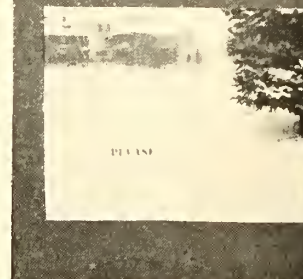

DECEMBER.

A Bemis hall chorus will sing — "What's the Use of College When You Can't Eat Chicken." Joseph's coats of many colors appear, worn by freshmen. Soon traded off to girls. Junior play given and while there was no dancing or singing, it made quite an impression. Dean Cajori tells how dollar mark originated and managers of student affairs, especially laundry agencies, hold conferences with him to discover ways and means of making the aforesaid $ stand out more prominently in the greater life of the college. Unsuspecting managers appointed for athletics. Professors Hills, Motten and Rothgeb go on eastern trips. The headliner for this month is the announcement that Mrs. A. D. Julliard of New York gives $100,000 for Cossitt hall. Minerva gives function and fathers of guests ask sons "who is Minerva," when they get bill, "Flowers for Minerva, $5." Fraternity scholarship announced and record held up as shining example, while all the bunches claim leadership. They plan to stimulate work by offering cup for best educated frat. Tiger gets out Police Gazette edition and it's time for a vacation. With no railroad passes and with walking rather chilly, students have to dig up fare. Fraternities give mistletoe dances, and members hand out jewelry. College men put on religious entertainment at various small towns during holiday. No encores noted. Coach Rothgeb signs contract which is good news to everybody, except Ohio state.

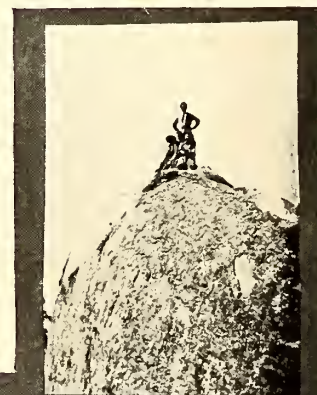

Scramble for remainder of endowment fund and at midnight, 1912, or 1913, it was announced that the $100,000 college fund was complete. College profs and business men took off coats and worked like sin, hunting for every penny. Town girls give good dance during vacation at one of our best known hotels.

JANUARY, 1913.

2. Chapter of Phi Delta Theta given C. C.
7. Christmas recess ends.
11. Sigma Chi, Phi Gamma Delta and Alpha Tau Delta dance.
12. Mr. W. E. Sweet, Vesper speaker.

25. Stag ball. Sophomore hike.
26. Dr. H. F. Rall, Vesper speaker.
27. Second half-year begins.
28. School of music recital.
29. Student commission discusses finances and the weather.
31. Apollonian stag banquet.

JANUARY.

Everybody back with suit cases full of new clothes and good resolutions. Glee club returns after shattering vocal chords and hearts of high school lassies. They said they did, anyway. Alpha Taus back as big as Cuffey with Phi Delta Theta charter granted at national convention in Chicago. Five fraternity jewelers soon appear on scene. Mis-ter Barnes of 1912 fame, given Rhoades scholarship much to delight of entire institution, including faculty. Dean Sturgis announces course on tree diseases. We suggest a treatment of the Jungle trees' ears because they do hear a lot of gush. Pretty spiffy plans announced for pageant to celebrate Prexy's quarto-centenary as head of the oldest school in the west. Messrs. Cort and Jameson chosen to get out Alumni Monthly monthly. Oh, you exams, oh you late hours, oh you worries, oh you cokes. Freshmen worried to death but survive. College organizations choose officers for year. It's hard to be an officer and feed a lot of people. The stag ball was given but the presence of an engineering professor, who gained fame as a dance hall investigator, prevented any fights. But would you believe it, college men in skirts smoked in restaurants. Hypatia put on its annual entertainment for men friends. They hear Sembrich and nibble olives. Men's glee club gives its concert and Prof. Shaw has little rough-house stunt when the bread thrown on the waters doesn't come back. But Rothy comes back from his Illinois farm. Students make plea for larger gymnasium in men's building and ask that it be made more than a hotel. Social schedule for second semester announced and it looks pretty busy. Professor Hills publishes book of Ballads on Pike's Peak region but we couldn't find any on "Next to Fussing in Bemis, What is the Best Form of Sport in College."

FEBRUARY.

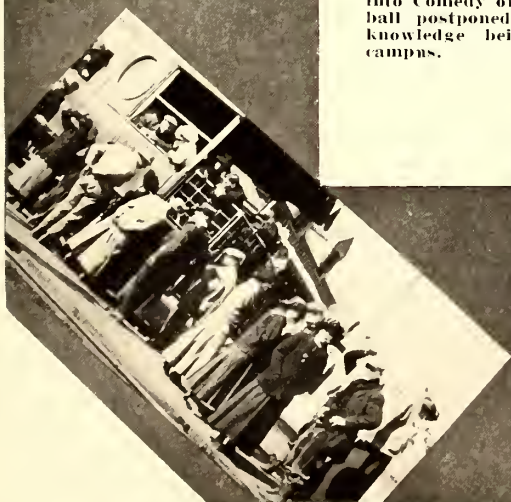

1. Hag, Hall stunt night.
2. Sermon by Dean Hart.

25. Editor Rowbotham makes plea for Freshman Math.
27. Intersociety debate. Apollonian club wins.

FEBRUARY.

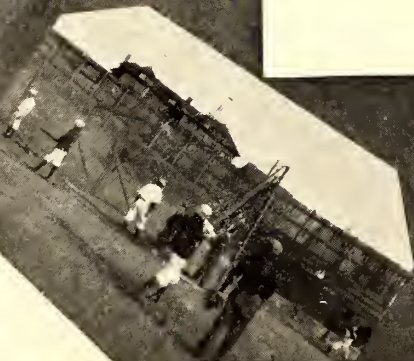

Funny, but this month had a big forelock and opportunity was attached to it. Seldom if ever have the studes been so busy. Professor Palmer of Harvard tells the seniors to do their duty and some of them did by going to class every day. Speaker Clark of Chicago, gives some high brow readings with Victrola attachment. The weather paid back the joke of 1912 Washington's birthday picnic. No picnic, no fussing, nothing but snow. Plan proposed to let down membership bars of girls societies. They tried to keep this secret, but somehow it got out. Prof. Breitwieser says artistic flirting is natural, delighting almost everybody but freshmen girls. Indoor track meet in Denver attended by Koch, who wins shot put, peevish D. U., who protested because he wore a blue necktie, meaning, of course, Mines. Phi Beta Kappas placed in cold storage and two junior men, both annual board editors, receive keys. English department announces prizes for debaters, consisting of books nobody reads except when they have the mumps. Hurry-up comes to inject much needed (?) pepper into Y. M. C. A. Sophs hold barber party and freshmen return compliment. Several shorn pates on exhibition. Sophs elect annual board. Emery, old boy, you knew not what you did. Weller heads men's shunt club. Aps swamp Pearsons and knock chips off shoulders of common enemies. Proceed to Tuckers and eat pie. Girls give Y. W. C. A. circus and animals break cage bars and get away. Minstrel show good, they said, but the matinee idea failed to appeal to the men and the window galleries were abandoned. Seniors choose to break into Comedy of Error column. Colonial ball postponed because of bunches of knowledge being spread around the campus.

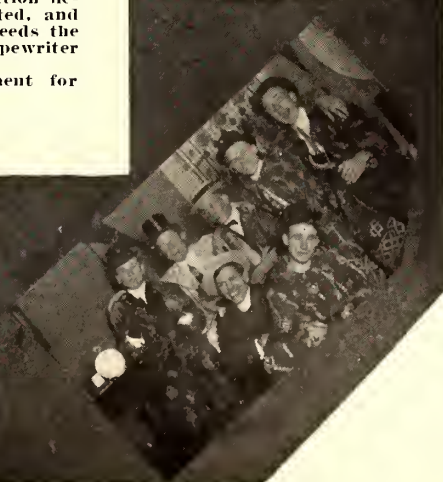

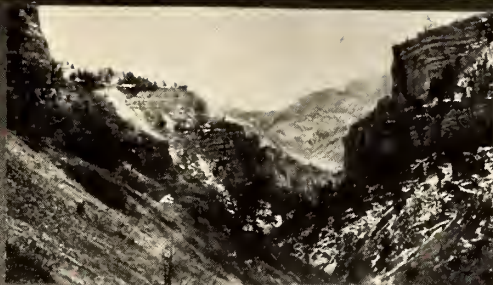

MARCH.

1. Y. W. C. A. circus.
2. Rev. Allen Tanner, Vesper speaker.
4. D. U. Glee club at chapel.
Shaw nearly sang.
5. Student commission discusses finances.
7. Colonial ball.
8. Deta Phi Theta, Alpha Tau Delta and Phi Gamma Delta dances.
Conditional examinations.
9. Rev. S. E. Brewster, Vesper speaker.
12. Students vote to give fifty cents a semester to the student commission.
13. Juniors make a gift of money to the student commission.
14. C. C. wins debate from D. U. Prexy goes East.
15. French club play.
16. Rev. Merle Smith, Vesper speaker.
17. Campus Baseball league formed.
20. Vacation begins at 5. p. m.

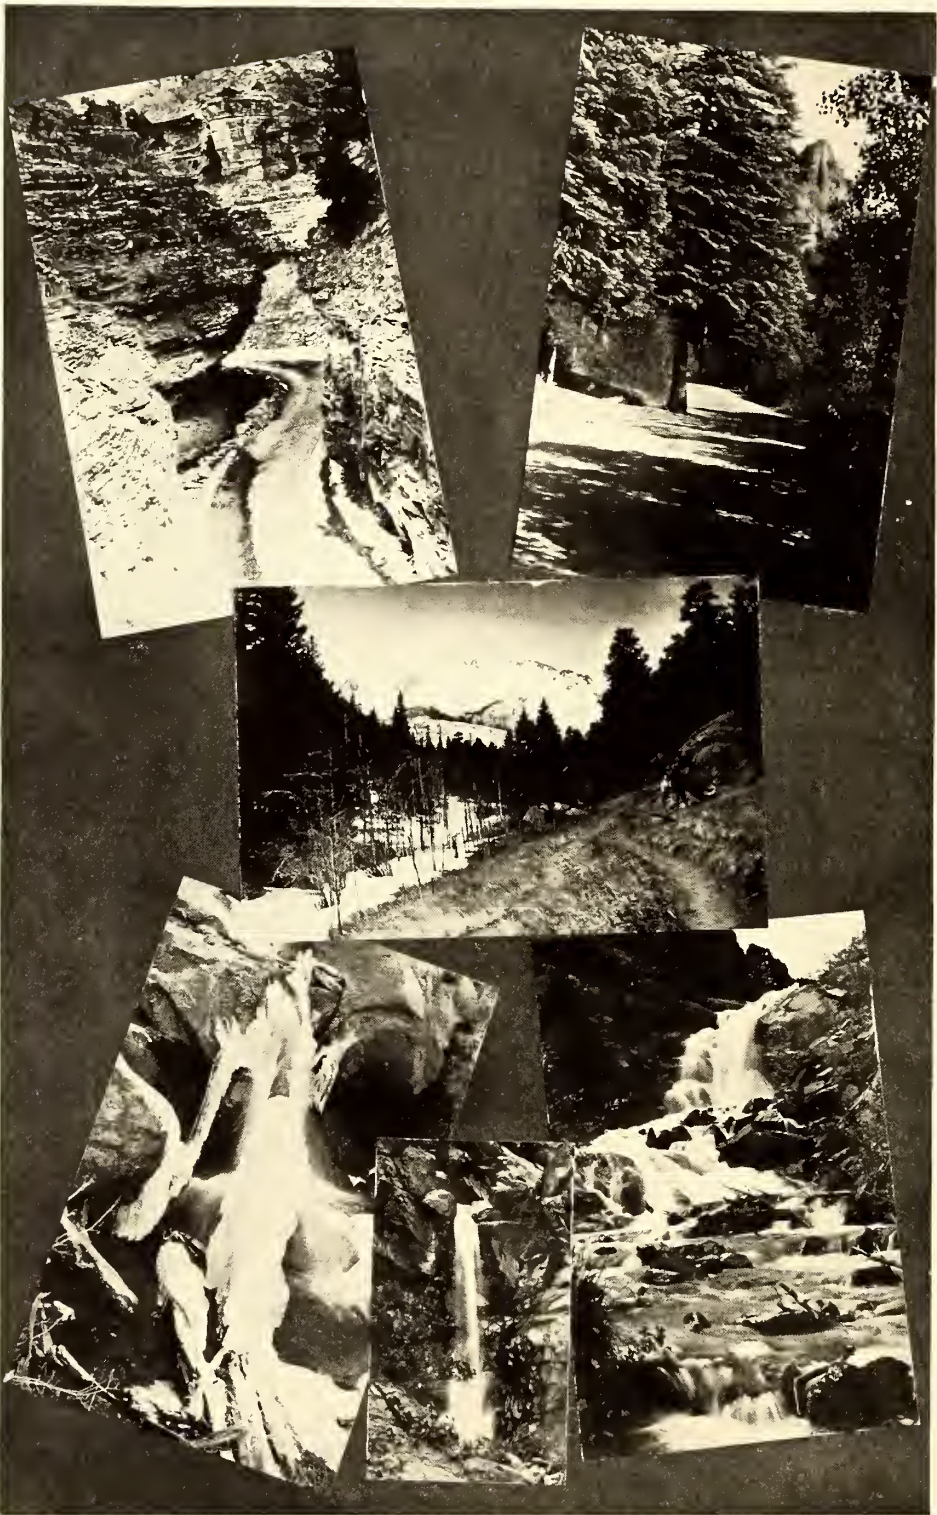

MARCH.

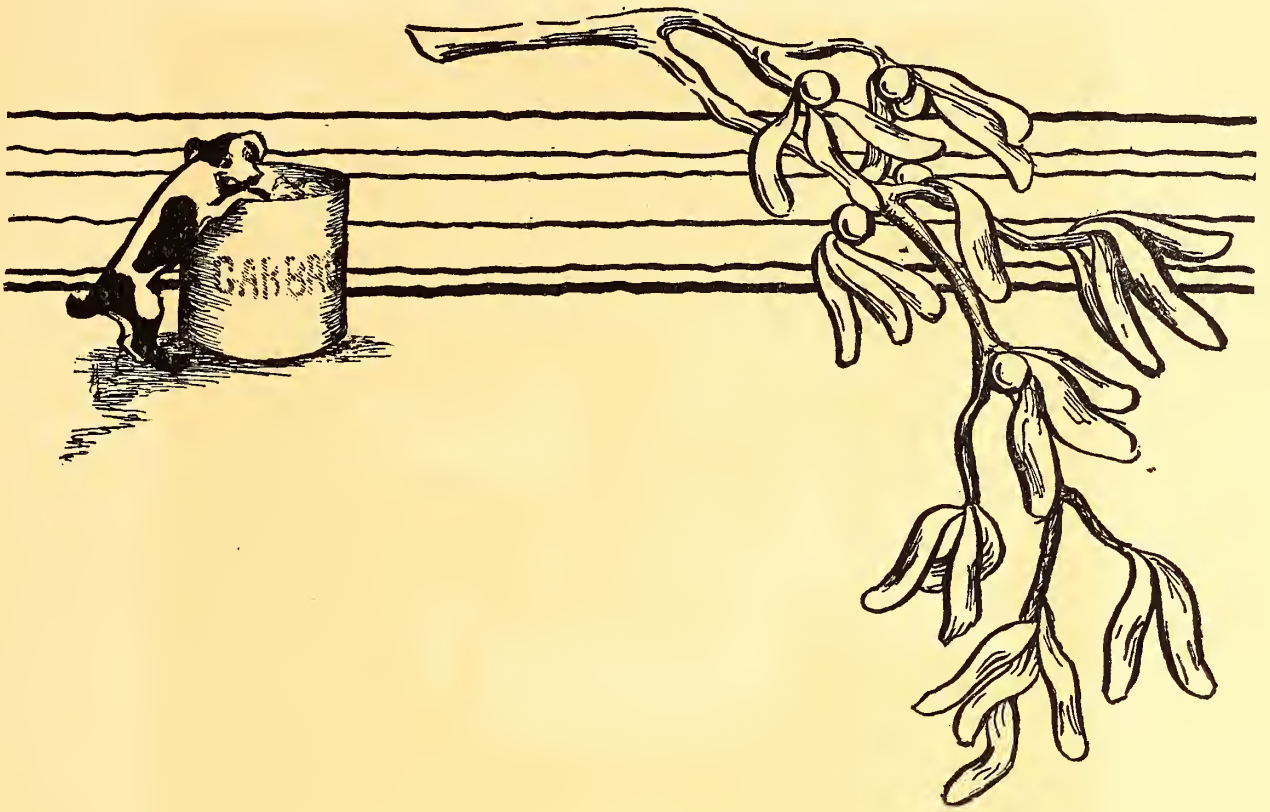

March came in like an ideal month for scholarly attainments, but ended in that different Pan Pan. Furnace shooters made immortal and interesting contest started to determine who is the ugliest college man. Frats announce Bible class and Pink Lewis gives a dance. Postponed Colonial hall offered inducements as usual and was attended as usual. French club gives drammer about man with indigestion, and senior men get caught in gamble on choice of girls. Shaw (ha, ha, the sly dog!) stacked the deck. Prexy and Mrs. Prexy go east on visit to studios where Prexy poses for portrait. Alpha Taus buy Nevada avenue home, get hull pup and fumigate it. Prof. Motten, our conference delegate, says newspapers have treated him real mean and suggests Maxim silencers for rooters, fearing that pitchers' feelings may be hurt. S. C. has hard time collecting coin from juniors, who stick up for principle, but finally present the interest. Quarter reports with the same old line of guff by studes. Touch of spring weather results in run on Bruin Inn larder when three frats try to eat there at once. Students agree to pay an iron boy for High school day. Bowers appointed to manage stunt and Rothgeb, director. Senior burlesquers decide to do much about nothing, finding comedy of errors erroneous.

St. Patrick's Day resulted in slight attack of home rule at chapel. College debaters walk off in contest with Deacons on banking question. The business manager of this publication is our choice for the all-star banking team. ("Say, you'ze, dontcher you know that cuts costs kale?") Studes ask Rep. Persons to prevent prize fights, especially the college kind. (See notes for May.)

With 10 more weeks of education before us, with this job completed, and only a month until this book feeds the literary hungry, we fold our typewriter and yell:

"'Thirty' on Current Comment for 1912-1913."

Humor

*The quality of humor is not strained (?)
Like as the dentist pulls the tooth with pain,
It cometh forth by jerks; it is twice cursed:
It paineth him who jests and him who hears;
'Tis vilest in an annual; it becomes
More dull, more dry and stupid every page.
But humor is not for the common herd,
It is too subtle far for idle minds.
It is a triumph for the learned man
If he can see a point.*

Buddy

O, a wonderful man is Buddy,
His achievements can never be told,
In Columbia he won his degree,
Before he was thirty years old.

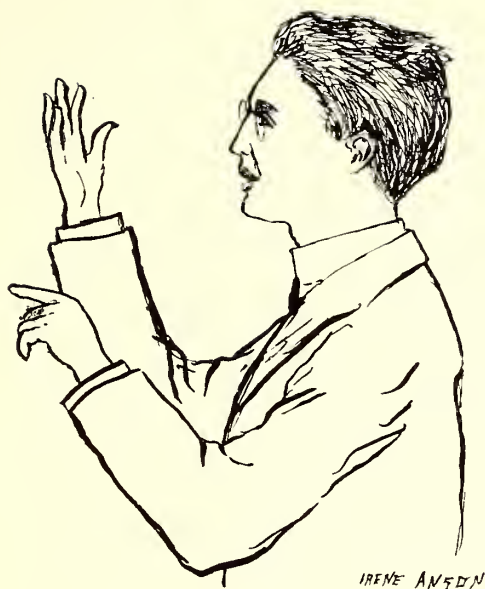

He's inclined to approve of a flirt,
He longs for a necktie quite bright.
But after all what is the hurt,
For our Buddy is really all right.

Dr. Jenkins

There comes from distant Turkey's shores,
A dame whose fame is great,
Who can both tell a clever joke,
And name you any date.

The lustre of her diamond, huge,
Is equalled by her hair,
And Prexy Slocum cannot beat
Her grand and stately air.

Prof. Persons

Prof. Persons was a learned man
And one of the elect;
For several weeks he taught us well
And won our deep respect.

The legislature called him then.
He packed his little trunk;
He gaily waved a last farewell
And left his class to flunk.

He said 'twould not be very long
Before he'd be on deck
To teach his little class again
In politics and Ec.

But legislatures ne'er can tell
How long they'll have to reign,
So now we've given up all hopes
Of seeing him again.

Prof. Noyes

Now a nice little man is Jakey,
In spite of his noisy name,
And he carries a mammoth bag,
Which never was made for game.

And he rides on a motor bike,
At a terrible breakneck speed,
And it's rumored a cop took him once,
As he dashed on his fiery steed.

Prof. Findley

Doc Findley's the prof to take,
If you want to make no mistake,
For the charms of his motor bike,
Tempt him forth on many a hike,

And the class can enjoy a snooze,
While they wait for the latest news,
For he may have broken a tooth,
Or gone for a smoke in sooth.

But his courses are not all a cinch,
You'll do well to get B on a pinch,
You'll find him no easy mark,
Unless you're a terrible shark.

The House of a Thousand Candles

or,

The Charge of the Frat Brigade.

Half a block, round the block,
Half a block onward,
Up to a house in flames
Rushed the brave Phi Gams.
A long-delayed message read—
"We're all on fire" it said;
Into the house of flames
Came the brave Phi Gams.

Like fire the news was spread,
Swiftly the Phi Gams sped,
Two reached the door at once,
Some from the windows jump,
Others in light array
Fled from their books away,
Pipes and cigars delay
Not one brave Phi Gam.

Fences to right of them
Fences to left of them
Trees right in front of them
Toward which they thundered.
Madly they take the wall
O'er which they roll and fall,
Fijis both large and small—
On came the Phi Gams.

Then when the house was reached
Rushing into the breach
All out of breath for speech—
What saw the Phi Gams?
Let not the tale be told,
Honor the Phi Gams bold
Ever the rescued hold
Their names in honor.

Coky on the Down Grade

Go to the Drug

When you've flunked an exam,
And you ought to go cram,
And you'd like to say—
Go to the drug.

When your girl turns you down,
With a cool little frown,
If your sorrows you'd drown,
Go to the drug.

When your dad has a fit,
O'er his son's lack of wit,
Just go eat a bit—
At the drug.

For no matter how blue,
It's invariably true,
You'll improve with some brew
From the drug.

A Psalm of Fussing

Tell me not in mournful numbers,
Fussing here is but a dream,
For a chaperone never slumbers,
When things are not what they seem.

Fussing's real—fussing's earnest—
With the Jungle as its goal,
Early went and late returnest,
Loss of privilege the dole.

Fussing's long but time is fleeting,
And no spirit howe'er brave,
Can stay to hear the bells repeating
"Ten o'clock"—no time to rave.

Trust no fusser, howe'er pleasant;
Let no "frat" pin turn your head,
"Fuss," "fuss" in the living present,
"Flunks" behind and "flunks"
ahead.

Wives of great men all remind us
How they spent their college time,
And by fussing left behind them
Records that shall last through time.

Records that perhaps another,
Sailing o'er the selfsame main,
A "flunking" and "conditioned"
brother,
Seeing, shall take heart again.

Let us then be up and "fussing,"
With lots of time for any date,
Flunked—broke—stung—then cease pursuing—
Learn to study ere too late.

If the Truth Were Told

Conerva society entertained its men friends last night. The banquet was the same old kind of a banquet, the music was poor, and the cost of flowers and taxis was too much for the fun obtained.

The Y. M. C. A. held a meeting last night with the secretary and two men present. Plans for the year were discussed, and it was decided to test out the students as to whether they wanted to have an association.

The Eta Beta Pies gave a dance last week and can't figure where they will get the money to pay for it. But few of the members of the fraternity know how to do the waltz and two-step, but they all can turkey trot.

The football team is training hard, fussing town girls at night, eating late lunches and smoking in privacy.

The French play was about as amusing as a Victrola recital would be to a deaf mute.

The soph barbecue was a shoddy affair—nothing fit to eat and the same old line of speeches and tossing.

The girls' literary societies are discussing the latest styles in pannier skirts, hair dressing and the latest "cases."

To the 1913 Board

Was it only a year ago,
That we strutted about with pride,
And said that we could do better
If even we only half tried?

We said your remarks were mean,
We said that your wit was poor,
And as for that silly tin nugget,
It held not the slightest lure.

But now we have changed our minds,
We would sell our soul for a joke,
For even the tiniest sketch
We would pay our all, and go broke.

We look at your book with awe,
For it shows a vast lot of brain,
And in spite of our work and toil,
We strive to surpass it in vain.

Not a Temperance Plea

Before Exams

Cram, cram, cram,
Till my head is all in a whirl,
And I sigh for the vanished hours
Spent in fussing that silly girl.

O, well for the virtuous shark,
Who knows more than the textbooks
can know,
O, well for the greasy grind,
For once in his life he may crow.

And the bonehead toils on and on,
With a sigh that is almost a moan,
And he thinks of the classes he's cut,
Alas, if he'd only known!

Flunk, flunk, flunk,
No matter how hard one crams,
And I know that I'll always do it,
As long as there are exams.

Miss Jenkins—We are going to use a new text book this semester.

Bud Wall—O my soul!

Miss Jenkins—What's the matter?

Bud Wall—I've just bought three volumes of the other.

PARTIAL VIEW OF THE OFFICE PRACTICE ROOM IN THE CENTRAL BUSINESS COLLEGE

¶ "Whatever vocation you may choose as your life work, there can be no question that the first step is to obtain a practical business education. This will be available in every calling. It will come to your aid every day in your life. By all means attend a good business college."

—Henry Ward Beecher

¶ "Today no young man can enter the counting-room and hope for success without special training; the young man who graduates from college, and who enters business without going through a business school is enormously hampered in his progress in life."

—Chauncey M. Depew

¶ Our life work is the training of young men and women for business. On the success of the past must we depend for patronage in the future. We are proud of the many students who have gone forth from our doors to fill positions of trust in the past, and our constant aim shall be to continue the work of best preparing young men and women for higher, nobler, and more useful lives.

WELL ROUNDED COLLEGE is an asset to any community. For twenty-five years, under its present administration, Colorado College has been building up better men and women,—better in intellect, better in education and better in character.

This newspaper rejoices in the past of Colorado College, and looks with great confidence to its future.
